LOCAL HISTORY TOPIC FOR STATE HISTORIAN HERE

"Local history is living history and we will learn more from the study of local history than from re-examination of national history," Dr. S. K. Stevens, state historian, told the Adams County Historical society at its meeting Tuesday evening at the court house here.

The state historian praised the local society for the "excellent use" it has made of the rooms made available by the Adams county commissioners in the basement of the court house.

The talk by Dr. Stevens is scheduled for broadcast by tape recording over WGET at 8:30 o'clock tonight.

able by the Adams county commissioners in the basement of the court house.

"What you have done here will become known throughout the state. On April 28 at the annual meeting of the State Federation of Historical Societies we plan a panel on historical museums and Dr. Robert Fortenbaugh has been asked to tell how you developed your museum here.

Commends Society

"The type of museum you have, with its large variety of materials and collections, illustrates the great variety, depth and breadth of history.

"Far too many historical societies think that nothing which occurred after 1820 is historical. But history is being made all the time and some of the most important phases of our history as a nation have occurred in the past 50 years.

"That is why you are to be commended for your recognition of this type of material. I am pleased that you have accepted the books of the labor unions in the McSherrystown area presented by Mr. Philip Wagaman. The only other place I know where any interest has been shown in saving the history of labor unions is the state museum in Wisconsin. Labor unions have played a part in our history and here you have the complete records, the minutebooks and dues books of a small local union formed before the turn of the century.

"That is another reason why local history is of importance. We can gain little from restudying our national history. But through our study of local history we will see the beginnings of things that later became great movements through the nation; we will get new insights into things that puzzle us; we will be able to be on far safer grounds to generalize on the history of our nation.

"But these collections of local history provide a challenge to us all. A challenge of finding some way to make available more widely these things that we have. This picture which you have here of the dedication of the Pennsylvania monument may be the only picture of that (Continued on Page 2)

Tokyo, April 4 (AP)—An Allied task force drove four miles north of the Red Korean border today against heavy Communist resistance.

IKE WILLIAMS, CARTER FIGHT LISTED MAY 11

Philadelphia, April 4 (AP) — Ike Williams finally has decided to defend his lightweight championship but it seems likely today the Trenton, N. J., puncher waited a little too long to make up his mind.

Frank (Blinky) Palermo, Williams' manager, said Ike will fight James Carter of New York in a title match at Madison Square Garden May 11.

This move caused the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission to lift its suspension of Williams but it didn't change the position of the National Boxing association.

The NBA had begun polling the 14 members of its executive committee to decide whether to declare Williams' title vacant because he ignored an NBA directive to defend his crown by March 31.

Arch Hindman, head of the NBA, said the poll will continue despite the agreement on the Carter match. Results of the poll won't be made known until next week.

Carter has only a fair record as far as title challengers go. In 61 bouts, he won 45, lost 10 and fought to a draw six times.

He is one of five boxers Palermo named earlier as possible foes for Williams when the NBA issued its March 31 directive.

The other four are Percy Bassett of Philadelphia, with whom Carter split two decisions; Art Aragon of Los Angeles, Del Flanagan of St. Paul and John L. Davis of Oakland, Calif. Davis since has quit the ring.

Aragon Next Foe
Palermo said that if Williams gets past Carter in their title go, Ike will meet Aragon at Los Angeles June 19.

This was news to matchmaker Babe McCoy who said at Los Angeles he "gave up a long time ago" trying to arrange a Williams-Aragon championship fight. McCoy said so far as he is concerned, Williams is no longer the lightweight champion.

The June 19 date falls on a night which by state law goes to the Olympic Boxing organization, run by McCoy and promoter Cal Eaton. Carter is rated number seven among the lightweight challengers by Ring magazine. First is Freddie Dawson of Chicago, who Williams defeated in December, 1949, in Ike's last title match.

Hindman said that if the NBA decides to remove Williams' title, it will attempt to organize a four-man elimination to determine a successor.

The quartet is made up of Dawson, Aragon, Flanagan and Pierre Montane of France.

Meanwhile, Madison Square Garden officials went ahead with preparations for a Williams-Carter fight.

Pirates May Play In Shorts This Year

New Orleans, April 4 (AP) — Ralph Kiner in scanties... Wally Westlake showing off craggy knees... catcher Clyde McCubough in decoy costume... and most fascinating of all, coach Honus Wagner wearing less than Trader Horn at his most tropical.

It may come to that. Branch Rickey, who master minds the Pittsburgh Pirates, has another idea.

He's thinking about sending his boys onto the playing field in shorts, the tight kind which some people think may become the new mode in baseball uniforms.

The fad bloomed last year among the Hollywood stars of the Pacific Coast league. And it didn't take Rickey long to latch onto such a fetching novelty. Mr. R., then boss of the Brooklyn Dodgers, ordered the outfits for Mobile, a Dodger farm club. Some players were keen on wearing the shorts, but most of the veterans scoffed at the fashion as rank heresy.

Battlefield To Make '51 Debut

New York, April 4 (AP) — Will Battelfield be as good a three-year-old this racing season as he was last year when he was voted the champion two-year-old?

The answer may be forthcoming today at Jamaica racetrack where the pride of the George D. Widener stables makes his 1951 debut in the $20,000-added six furlong experimental handicap No. 1.

This is the first big eastern preview of Kentucky preview derby eligibles and has drawn an overnight field of 17 three-year-olds, of which Battelfield and 10 others have been nominated for the Kentucky classic at Churchill Downs next month.

Winner of $198,677 as a juvenile, Battelfield ruled a solid overnight choice at little better than even money despite the big field and his top weight of 124 pounds. Eddie Arcaro was slated to ride him from number nine post position.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, April 4 (AP) — You can hear at least two versions of what's going on in the boxing trade hereabouts—both confusing. . . . The official version, heard in the IBC office, is that matchmaker Al Weill wants to bring in "every new fighter who should be seen in New York."

He already has produced Rex Layne, Irish Bob Murphy and Bob Satterfield to the delight of the TV fans and a few cash customers. . . . There may be more by the end of May, for Bob Baker, sixth ranking heavyweight, will get his first New York showing at St. Nick's next week; young Chico Vejar is advancing to the main bout class and Paul Pender, flashy Boston middleweight, may appear here. . . . The guys who figure Al is shilling for heavyweight, Rocky Marciano, managed by Al's son, Marty, give it to you another way. . . . They claim Weill figured to give Layne, Murphy, etc., matches that would make them look bad and was unexpectedly rewarded with a series of crowd-pleasing windings. . . . But the question still is—how the fighters can cash in on their new popularity on the air waves. The managers will meet Friday to demand more TV dough. They won't get much—and what can they do about it?

TEMPLE CAGER SETS TWO NEW SCORING MARKS

Philadelphia, April 4 (AP) — All-America Bill Mikky of Temple, who won the major college scoring championship, is a modest giant of a fellow who says his family really deserves credit for his record-shattering feats in basketball.

"It was my older sister, Lillian, who taught me to shoot," he says, "and she and my 12-year-old brother, Bobby, are my severest critics. If I'm not on my toes, I sure hear about it, not only from them but from everyone else in the family."

Statistics announced yesterday showed that the 6-foot-4-inch, 190-pound star from Palmerton, Pa., averaged 29.2 points in 25 games in the past season, breaking Ernie Calverly's 1944 record of 26.7. Moreover, the "Owl without the vowel" broke another record when he made 312 field goals to surpass Chet Giermak's two-year-old collegiate mark of 301. He also wound up second in assists and second on rebounds.

"Bill Mikky is one of the greatest basketball players of all time," says Temple Coach Josh Cody. "He has no shooting weaknesses whatever. Although he shoots brilliantly from practically everywhere, he scores mostly from the outside."

Sought By 50 Colleges
Although Mikky has been something of an idol among sports fans almost since his grade school days, he has not let popularity turn his head. In his high school years he excelled in baseball and football as well as in basketball, and when he was graduated some 50 colleges sought to enroll him.

Sportsmanship, say those who know him best, is one of his staunchest qualities.

Now 20 and a junior, Mikky is studying dentistry.

"A lot of people seem to forget that Bill has a career to think about," a close friend remarked. "You wouldn't believe what demands have been made upon his time."

Last January there were so many requests for him to make public appearances that university authorities finally announced that he wouldn't be available for any further non-university activities.

It amuses Bill that a few can either spell or pronounce his name correctly. Actually, the pronunciation is simple—Mik-vee. The name is of Czechoslovakian origin.

Training Camp Briefs

New Orleans, April 4 (AP) — Manager Leo Durocher of the New York Giants said today he knew nothing about a report that the Giants were seeking to sign southpaw Johnny Vander Meer.

Durocher said he had talked with Giants Owner Horace Stoneham yesterday morning and Stoneham did not mention Vander Meer. The southpaw, who gained fame in 1938 with two consecutive no-hit games, was released recently by the Chicago Cubs.

Savannah, Ga., April 4 (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies and Brooklyn Dodgers clash here tonight in their fifth meeting of the spring campaign.

The final encounter between the two teams—until the regular season begins—will be played tomorrow at Jacksonville, Fla.

New Orleans, La., April 4 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates settled here today for a five-game engagement before starting the northward trip. They play the Chicago White Sox and the Chicago Cubs one game each, then meet the National League champions, the Philadelphia Phillies.

Miami, April 4 (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers may have the benefit of Erv Palica's pitching for a few National League games before he is ordered to report for induction into the army.

The Dodgers announced yesterday that Palica, who helped spark Brooklyn's late-season drive last year, will rejoin the club pending receipt of his induction orders.

Tucson, Ariz., April 4 (AP) — The New York Yankee players have decided to ask a minimum of $25 for any future guest appearances on radio, television or other functions during the spring training season. They adopted the rule at a meeting on Monday.

YORK SPRINGS NINE WINS 1ST

York Springs high school's veteran baseball team pushed over a run in the last half of the fourth inning to win a 4-3 decision over Shippensburg in its opening game of the season Tuesday afternoon on the York Springs diamond.

Coach Hubley's nine was held to two hits by a trio of Greyhound hurlers but a double by Glenn Guise, coupled with some ragged defensive work on the part of Shippensburg, produced a pair of important runs in the second frame.

now nearly 500,000 combat troops in this area, primed for the long-expected Red offensive. Korea's rainy spring weather and glue-like mud will favor the Reds. They may launch their greatest attack of the war any day now.

For the second straight day the big air battle was fought near Sinuiju south of the Yalu river. Twelve F-86 Sabre jets tangled with eight red-nosed MIGs. The Communists broke off and raced to refuge in their Manchurian sanctuary.

In two days the Sabre jets have knocked down four MIGs and damaged seven others. No Allied losses have been reported. Official pictures raised Tuesday's toll to three destroyed and five damaged.

Pound Red Supply Lines
Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers hammered the Red transport network. Preliminary reports Wednesday showed 28 vehicles damaged or destroyed and several direct hits on the Sonchon rail yards.

There was scattered ground fighting on the western front, a brief skirmish was reported eight miles southwest of Yonchon and another eight miles southeast of Yonchon. Yonchon is six miles north of the border and 35 miles south of Seoul.

U. N. ground and air forces claimed 1,795 enemy casualties in Tuesday's fighting.

Two American tank forces that crossed the border Tuesday in the west pushed two and one-half miles into Red Korea before they were forced to withdraw.

Heavy Resistance
The crossings were made in the Yonchon sector north of Seoul. Farther west South Korean forces crossed the cold Injin river at two points and met heavy Chinese resistance. A Chinese counterattack pushed one group back despite heavy Allied artillery and air barrages. One force was four miles northwest of Munsan and another was five miles northwest of the battered city. Both forces withdrew.

Coder Recipient Of Fisher Award

Eugene Coder, Norristown, Gettysburg college varsity basketball center and varsity football end, has been named the winner of the Margaret E. Fisher Memorial Award by Dr. Henry W. A. Hanson, college president.

The award, which is presented to the athlete who achieves the highest scholastic average among winners of varsity letters, was established by Dr. Nelson E. Fisher, Chicago, in memory of his mother. The award carries with it the interest of $5,000.

Coder, who improved rapidly in basketball, was playing the best ball of his career at the end of the past season. He also was a strong offensive end on Coach Hen Bream's football team. He is a member of the junior class and a member of Phi Gamma Delta national social fraternity.

He hurt the leg, he said, when he fell off a horse on his uncle's farm. And it kept hurting so much he figured he had to get to a doctor.

Can't Read, Write
The black-haired youngster hasn't gone to school more than 10 days in his life, he said. And he can't read or write. He said his dad was in prison for stealing some copper wire from a coal mine, and his ma "she drinks." So he's been staying with relatives.

His story went on: He half-walked, half-dragged the seven miles from the backwoods farm to a paved road, where a motorist picked him up and took him to within one mile of Wayne. He

A report on a recent meeting of the Associated Civic and Service group was given by Donald Reel, representative of the Exchange club, who was elected secretary of the group, which represents Rotary, Lions, Exchange and the Women's Civic Council.

President Garfinkle announced that the club will follow the plan of holding a business meeting the first Tuesday of each month, with no speakers and no guests.

TRUMAN CALLS LABOR LEADERS TO NEW PARLEY

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, April 4 (AP)—In calling labor leaders to a White House conference tomorrow, President Truman is doing what President Roosevelt did.

Mr. Roosevelt was able to quit them. Mr. Truman has yet to show he can do the same. The problems facing both Presidents were rather similar.

Early in 1941, when the defense program was getting under way, Mr. Roosevelt created the National Defense Mediation Board (NDMB).

Its purpose: To try to settle peacefully disputes between management and labor. NDMB had 12 members; four from labor, four from business, four representing the public.

It exploded in November, 1941, when some of the labor members walked out in protest against a decision by the other board members. That was the end of the board. The next month we were in the war.

On December 17 President Roosevelt called a White House conference of labor and management. During the war, most of labor and management promised there'd be no strikes and no lockouts.

New Board Created
Since they were giving up their right to settle a dispute by walking out or shutting down a plant, something had to be done to give them fair treatment. So Mr. Roosevelt created the War Labor Board (WLB).

And both sides agreed to submit their disputes to WLB and abide by the decisions. This board also had 12 members, four from labor, four from business, four representing the public.

It was a time of rising prices—OPA hadn't come into full power—which meant labor would want higher wages when prices went higher and management would want to charge higher prices if they gave wage increases.

WLB finally worked out a formula, deciding generally that no wages should be increased throughout the war more than 15 per cent above where they had been in January, 1941. WLB pretty well held to this formula.

Labor Walks Out
Now comes the present defense program. To control prices and wages at the same time, Mr. Truman created the OPS (Office of Price Stabilization) and the WSB (Wage Stabilization Board).

Late in January both agencies suddenly cracked down, freezing wages and prices—but only temporarily, until machinery could be set up to carry out the controls. It was understood, because the freeze was so sudden that adjustments would have to be made in both prices and wages.

WSB—with nine members, three from labor, three from industry, three representing the public—set about controlling wages. WSB exploded on February 13. The reason: Over the protests of the labor representatives, the other six WSB members decided wages generally could not be raised more than 10 per cent above where they were in January, 1950. Labor walked out of the board on February 16.

Will Try Again
More than that: The labor leaders—except for John L. Lewis and four rail unions—banded together and pulled their representatives out of all government agencies connected with the defense program.

Without its labor members, WSB came to a full standstill. This all made such a impossible situation that on March 15 Mr. Truman apparently decided to try to pacify labor a bit. He announced he'd appoint a national advisory board on mobilization policy, with 17 members: A chairman and four from labor, four from business, four from farms, and four representing the public.

Labor still didn't go back into its defense jobs. Now Mr. Truman has called the labor leaders to the White House.

Magnetite Found Near Dillsburg

Washington, April 4 (AP)—Deposits of magnetite near Dillsburg, Pa., are sufficient enough to interest mining companies, the Interior Department reports. Magnetite is an iron ore. The department announced yesterday studies by the Geological Survey and the Bureau of Mines indicate light ore bodies ranging from one to 30 feet thick at several places in a belt 10,000 feet long and 1,500 to 3,000 feet wide. It added: "The presence of several additional deposits of magnetite that are comparable in grade, thickness and extent to those already mined was indicated by the drilling."

New Oxford

New Oxford—John F. Smith, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, has enlisted in the army. He is a graduate of the Delone Catholic high school, McSherrystown, and of late has been affiliated with the R. H. Sheppard Co., Hanover.

A young son of Mr. and Mrs. Worth H. Bible, near here, has been under treatment in the Hanover hospital. Both his parents were also under medical care during the past winter.

Final plans for the presentation of their annual "Spring Market" Saturday were the subject for discussion at the business session of the meeting of the Mite society of St. Paul's Reformed church, conducted Tuesday evening at the church building with Mrs. M. R. Freed acting as hostess.

Invalid and convalescent cookery was the lesson subject at the recent meeting of the local adult home economics group. Mrs. Clair Lookenbill was hostess at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Herschel Shortlidge, near Philadelphia, with their daughter, Gail, have returned home after a recent visit to Mrs. Shortlidge's mother, Mrs. C. Clark Brown, and other local relatives. Mrs. Shortlidge was formerly Miss Freda Brown.

M. M. Sharrer, New Chester, entertained fellow members of the council of the Pines Lutheran church, that place, on Tuesday evening at his home. Their pastor is the Rev. Samuel M. Clark.

J. Arthur Donohue, who had had a position in Philadelphia for some time, has returned to that city after a short stay here with his wife, Mrs. Kathryn Donohue.

Mrs. Maximilian A. Rairigh, whose husband died suddenly last fall, is preparing to leave here to make her home in Philadelphia. Mrs. Rairigh recently sold her house here to the Charles Taylor family who plan to make their home there.

A. M. Walker, near New Chester, is preparing to have a public sale at his farm of his herd of dairy cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Spangler, formerly of here, have moved from their home in the Gettysburg area to New Freedom.

The Blessed Virgin Sodality of the local Catholic church is sponsoring a public card party at the parochial hall this evening at 8:15. The young people will also hold a refreshment sale at the hall at the same time.

Washington, April 4 (AP)—The House Armed Services committee has unanimously approved transfer of 24 U.S. destroyer escorts to friendly nations under mutual defense agreements.

The committee acted immediately after getting a request for approval from Adm. Forrest Sherman, chief of naval operations. But in seeking consent, Sherman urged ending the program of war ship transfers because of this country's need for anti-submarine vessels.

On proposal by Senator Kem (R-Mo.) to delay sending of U.S. ground troops to Europe until military leaders certify the western Allies can control the air there: Martin for, Duff against. Measure defeated, 64-24.

On motion by Senators Bricker (R-Ohio) and Gordon (R-Ore.) to recommit the troops to Europe resolution to be made mandatory legislation instead of advisory: Martin for, Duff against. Measure defeated 56-31.

CLOSE BATTLE IN HOUSE OVER INCOME LEVY

Harrisburg, April 4 (AP)—The administration fought a nip-and-tuck battle to obtain House passage today of the one-half of one per cent income tax proposal.

Defections in Republican ranks appeared in several quarters but Speaker Herbert P. Sorg (R-Elk) expressed confidence that the GOP would win the necessary 105 votes to put the tax across in the House.

Shaky spots in the 120-vote Republican majority appeared in the five-member Schuylkill county delegation and among four assemblymen from Delaware county.

Ask More Study
G. Harold Watkins, Schuylkill county Republican chairman, said all five House members from the hard coal county would cast ballots against the measure designed to raise $119,000,000 in the next two years.

"Let's not rush into this," said Watkins, who had been a staunch supporter of Gov. Fine in last year's Republican primary split. "We need more time to sound out sentiment on an income tax." The Delaware county members were reported against the levy unless Fine saw fit to exempt non-residents from the Philadelphia wage tax.

And from the Senate came a disclosure that at least seven GOP senators would vote against any income tax bill reaching the upper chamber.

Final Fate In Doubt
Their stand left in doubt the ultimate fate of the bill, a key measure in Fine's $163,000,000 tax program. Republicans would be 3 votes short of having enough votes to pass the measure in the Senate.

The seven GOP senators who said they would vote against the impost are Sen. G. Robert Watkins (Delaware), Edward J. Kessler (Lancaster), Henry J. Probert (Montgomery), Montgomery F. Crowe (Monroe), C. Arthur Blass (Erie), George N. Wade (Cumberland) and Donald P. McPherson, Jr. (Adams).

Wade said the group is insisting on "every economy before the tax is voted."

A variety of reasons for their opposition was cited, ranging from objection to an income tax as a matter of principle to suggestions that Fine's $1220,000,000 be pared to eliminate the necessity of new taxes.

Taxes Steal Show
Taxes dominated the legislative scene in both Houses, although Rep. Edwin Tompkins (R-Cameron) announced that he would propose establishment of a state crimes commission to investigate vice and racketeering in Pennsylvania.

His plan is patterned after the Crime Investigating committee recently established in New York state. On the same subject Rep. C. O. Williams (D-Washington) asked additional funds for the Justice Department to investigate municipal corruption on a statewide basis.

In the Senate, Sen. Elmer J. Holland (D-Allegheny) called for abolishment of the state Milk Control commission. He claimed the depression-born agency is no longer needed in prosperous times to fix a price floor on milk.

POSTHUMOUS AWARDS

Philadelphia, April 4 (AP)—Silver Stars were awarded posthumously to two Pennsylvania soldiers yesterday by Col. G. V. Sottong, acting chief of the Pennsylvania military district. Honored for their heroic exploits in Korea were Capt. Arnold R. Flook, 35, of Bloomsburg and Pfc. William F. Underdown, 19, of Croyden. Captain Flook's widow and Pfc. Croyden's parents accepted the medals.

Interesting News Of Upper Adams Countians And Their Enterprises

Upper End Can Expect More Taxes For Expanded School Building Program In Decade

Upper Adams countians can expect an increased school building program plus increased taxation during the next decade. These are the conclusions of the 19-member Upper Adams School commission in its report recently presented to the joint school board after two years of study.

One principal factor makes necessary an increase in the revenue of the schools and plans for future building—that by September, 1958, the district will have 450 to 500 more students in schools than the present school population of 1,314, the commission noted.

Population trends in the Upper Adams district show that about 45 more pupils per year will enter the school system each year, jumping the expected enrollment for six-year-olds from an average of 85 per year during the period 1940 to 1950 to an average 125 per year during the period from 1950 to 1955. Distributed through the school system year after year, this will mean an increase of at least 450 by 1958, the commission says.

See Future Problem

What to do with the additional students is a question that will become more pressing year after year, the commission reported. Where the schools could take care of up to 200 more students, "something will have to be done soon to take care of the total anticipated enrollment."

Would Abandon 1861 School

In its report the commission notes that not only are existing school structures inadequate to handle the expansion expected in the next seven years, but adds that some of the buildings should be replaced and that part of the curriculum should be changed to provide better education for the youths attending the schools.

The commission recommends that the old building at Arendtsville, erected in 1861, be abandoned, and that facilities at the former Arendtsville high school, now an elementary center, be increased.

Grade School Project

Most pressing building problem, the commission revealed in its study, is the replacement or renovation of the Biglerville grade school structure, described as "the least efficient unit" in the system.

"Examination of the present grade school building in Biglerville reveals a condition which makes its expansion and modernization questionable," the commission notes. "The present building is garage type construction that has been weather beaten for more than 30 years, which would indicate that the cost of improvement would be very high. It is possible that it would be cheaper to build a new unit. The commission proposes such a recommendation as a rather immediate need. If the erection of this unit does not take place in the next two-year period, immediate action should be taken to waterproof and paint the exterior of the present building."

Enlargements Urged

"Long range planning," the report notes, "should give consideration to expansion of the former Arendtsville high school building into a 12-room elementary unit, plus kindergarten facilities. It appears that this need could become urgent in less than a ten-year period."

That additional construction will be needed at the Biglerville high school in the near future is also forecast by the commission. "The present facilities at the high school are fairly adequate," the report states, "but there is evidence to show that additional facilities will be needed within the next seven-year period. All high school classes will increase by approximately 50 per cent in size within this period of time. These pupils are in the elementary schools now and the first class with this larger enrollment will enter junior high school in September, 1952. Thus, it is clear that the community will be faced with an expansion problem of the secondary school at an earlier date than is realized by the average citizen in our community."

Want Modern Curriculum

Tables prepared by the commission concerning what happens to upper Adams high school graduates after they leave high school led the group to suggest a number of changes in the curriculum of the schools.

The figures showed that only 20 per cent of the graduates continued their education after high school. Of the 80 per cent, 63 per cent remain in the Upper Adams area and 37 per cent leave the section to find employment elsewhere.

As a result of these findings, the commission held that the high school should prepare the 20 per cent for college, but should put more emphasis on providing the 80 per cent with the type of training "that will meet their needs as citizens of the community."

Concerning the program for those planning to enter college the commission had few suggested changes. The program is based on the requirements of the colleges, and therefore does the job expected of it.

Of the commercial program provided by the school the commission held that it "needs modernization."

There is too much difference between the facilities of the commercial department and those of an office in modern industry. To a large degree the training is obsolete. Too much time is being spent on subjects of a traditional nature and not enough on the more important modern machines now being used in most offices."

For Aptitude Tests

The commission also had another recommendation for the commercial department: "The commission further recommends that the commercial program be offered in a shorter period of time, rather than spread over a period of two or three years, and that the aptitudes of the pupils be carefully checked so that a more highly trained type individual would be placed for employment."

A number of recommendations concerning expansion of the agricultural department at the high school were made. "The school finds itself in a rather unique position with respect to this program," the report states. "Usually, educational programs provide the known-how to develop the resources of a community."

Research Study

"In this case, however, the high degree of specialization of the fruit industry provides research on the use of spray materials, insect control, orchard management and farm marketing that is far superior to any program that the school has been able to promote to date. Admitting that such a situation does exist, it would be reasonable to assume that a vocational agriculture program in our secondary school should be very thoroughly developed on a co-operative basis with all of the best agencies connected with our industries, whether they be agricultural or industrial in nature. Such a school program will have a tendency to make the training more specialized, which is highly desirable in order to properly equip the young people who receive this training."

A second recommendation by the commission concerns the size of this program so far as number of trainees is concerned. "It appears that there should be more boys receiving this training because statistics indicate that there are many more boys going back to the farm than are receiving agricultural training," the report says.

"Possibly an adult education program would be in order to correct a far too prevalent idea among the adult rural population that an education is not necessary to follow agricultural pursuits. Nothing is farther from the truth. There are far too many sub-standard farms in our community now because there has been inadequate training on the part of the operators."

The commission also recommends that every student in the school receive at least one semester of typing. The commission concludes its report by noting, "The improvement of our Upper Adams joint school is an obligation of all citizens. Where there is public indifference schools decline both in vision and performance."

Members of the commission included L. V. Stock, supervising principal of the Upper Adams schools; Mrs. Louella M. Arnold, Gettysburg; R. D.; Melvin Breighner, Gardners; Dale Crum, Bendersville; Clark Peters, Gardners; R. 1; Charles Gulden, Aspers; Dr. Raymond Hale, Jr., Arendtsville; Roy Heckenluber, Biglerville; R. 1; Mrs. Clayton Jester, Biglerville star route; Dr. Fred Lewis, Arendtsville; Mrs. Marshall Longenecker, Biglerville; R. 1; Arnold Orner, Arendtsville; Zeal Peters, Aspers; R. 1; Mrs. E. The commission organized in February 1949 and made its report this month. One of its first recommendations, construction of the Bendersville elementary center, was carried out before the commission completed its study.

Stretch Budget With Made-over Clothing

One way to stretch your budget is to utilize carefully-planned clothing that has been made over. Exhibits, showing how items of discarded clothing can be converted into attractive and serviceable clothing for children, will be displayed as a part of the Spring Week-End program of the School of Home Economics at the Pennsylvania State college, April 13 and 14. The program, which will center about the theme, "Children and Youth in Our Homes," will attract hundreds of Pennsylvania homemakers to the Penn State campus. Worn skirts, Penn State home economists point out, often provide plenty of material for a child's skirt or dress, while shirts that are frayed at the collar are useful for making shirts or undershorts for small boys. A wool shirt might be useful in making trousers for a small boy. Students in clothing and textiles classes at Penn State made the items of children's clothing that will be exhibited.

"NUTT FAMILY" COMEDY CAST IS ANNOUNCED

The cast of characters for "The Nutt Family," a three-act farce to be presented by the Arendtsville Volunteer Playmakers' Guild, will begin rehearsals this evening in the South Mountain Fairgrounds Memorial auditorium.

The play will be presented at the Memorial auditorium on the Fairgrounds Friday evening, April 13, at 8:15 p.m. Prior rehearsals by the cast were held at the Knouse Foods' Orttanna plant auditorium, at the social rooms in the Arendtsville National bank and at the home of David Houck, Arendtsville, the director of the play.

Four members of the cast are "newcomers" to the five-year-old organization of amateur actors. The new actors are Betty Unger, Marie Schachle, John Carroll, Jr., and Kitty Galush. The other members of the cast, the Rev. Nevin R. Prantz, Mary Roth, Janice Keller, Edwin Stoner, Harold Travis, Elaine Taylor, Marie Keller, Clara Kane and Gertrude Miller, have appeared in prior performances by the group.

Director Houck announced the addition of Arthur Deardorff and Attorney S. M. Raffensperger to the stage committee headed by John Stover and the addition of Miss Betty Hartzell and Mrs. Ruth Trostle to the advertising committee.

The story revolves about the difficulties of the family of Dr. and Mrs. Phineas Nutt, played by Rev. Mr. Prantz and Mrs. Roth, who move into a house that was formerly an asylum for the insane and then discover that various former patients of the asylum are coming back to their former sanatorium.

PHEASANT HITS HUNTER'S HOME

Harvey Quigle, Bendersville fruit grower, is beginning to wonder whether it might not be better to just stay at home and let the game come to him.

Last November Mr. Quigle was highly excited about the opportunity of hunting for ringneck pheasants in Lancaster county. He was so excited, as a matter of fact, that he forgot to take his shotgun with him when he left for Lancaster, arriving there to discover that while he was in Lancaster county, his gun was still leaning against a tree in Bendersville.

Tuesday Mr. Quigle had another experience with ringnecks that is leading him to believe that all things come to him who waits.

Mrs. Quigle was working in the kitchen of her home when she heard a terrific crash upstairs. She went to the barn and asked Mr. Quigle to investigate.

He found his bedroom window smashed and the venetian blind awry.

Searching for the cause of the damage, he discovered a big ringneck cockbird under his bed. He caught the bird and brought it down town as proof for the story he had to tell.

Later he released the bird. It took off with a whoosh, hit some utility lines, fell to the ground and then headed for other parts on foot at the speed of a greyhound, according to witnesses.

FARM CALENDAR

Grass Silage is Good—Extension livestock specialists at the Pennsylvania State college remind that grass and legume silage is just about as good for beef cattle and sheep as corn silage. This reassures livestock producers who have been wondering what they would do for silage if they grew more grass and less corn.

Little Available — Pennsylvania poultrymen have many kinds of litter available for brooding chicks. Penn State extension poultry specialists say that straw, corn fodder, corn cobs, sawdust and shavings are all practical materials for brooder house litter. Straw, corn fodder and corn cobs are available on most farms.

Use Disease-Free Plants—To avoid losses in fields and gardens, growers are urged to use only disease-free plants. Extension plant pathologists of the Pennsylvania State college recommend treating seed to control seed-borne diseases and using clean or sterilized soil in greenhouses or beds where plants are grown.

Control Weeds in Lawn — Since weeds usually start in a lawn where the grass is thin, A. E. Cooper, Penn State extension agronomist, suggests that the cause of the thinning be discovered and corrected. Proper liming and fertilizing may be needed.

Set Strawberry Plants—For next year's strawberry crop, plants should be set out early this spring. Early-set plants produce the biggest yields, according to C. S. Bittner, Penn State extension fruit specialist, because runner plants get established early.

Remodel Old Barns—Remodeling of many old, overshot, bank barns will aid their owners in saving time and labor and also make the barns more comfortable for animals, says C. G. Burress, Penn State extension agricultural engineer.

Inspect Wiring System—The electrical system in your home or on your farm is no stronger than its poorest part, reminds C. H. Bingham, extension agricultural engineer of the Pennsylvania State college. He urges periodical inspection of wiring systems by a qualified person. Repairs and replacements should be made promptly where needed.

Plan the Planting — If you are planning to plant a few shrubs or trees on the home grounds this year, remember that the specimens are young and will grow. A. O. Rasmussen, extension ornamental horticulturist of the Pennsylvania State college, emphasizes use of plants that will not outgrow the space where they are to be set.

Control Corn Borer—Clean plowing will kill 98 per cent of the corn borers in the corn field, declares E. J. Udine, extension entomologist of the Pennsylvania State college. Clean plowing means that all stalks and corn refuse are completely covered.

Udine says that the plowing must be done before May 1 to get effective control.

Growing Asparagus—Either Mary Washington or Martha Washington is a good asparagus variety, reminds J. O. Dutt, Penn State extension vegetable specialist. He recommends

GIFT PACKAGE FROM GERMANY CHEERS GI DICK

Phoenixville, Pa., April 4 (AP)—Several bottles of German liquor, a hand-carved pipe, a leather tobacco pouch, and a German beer stein.

Such was the "medicine" that produced results where all the technical and professional skill of an army hospital failed.

The "medicine" came in the form of a Red Cross package. It was addressed only to "a fighter for freedom." It was given to Cpl. Richard Hasty, 21, a veteran of the Korean fighting, flat on his back at Valley Forge army hospital.

The corporal was paralyzed from his waist down by wounds suffered while working with his engineer unit crossing a Korean stream.

The cure the package brought was a grin. The veteran in the next bed said he had waited three months to one-year-old plants, 67 of them in a 100-foot row for the average-sized family.

Be Ready for Chicks—Filled feeders and water fountains should be in place when the baby chicks are put in the brooder house, say Penn State extension poultry specialists. The first feed can be chick grain, or mash, or both.

Manage Milking—The average cow can be milked in three minutes if the dairyman uses the managed milking method advocated by Ivan E. Parkin, extension dairy specialist of the Pennsylvania State college.

see a parcel come for Cpl. Hasty. Grateful German

The package came from Siegfried Dath of Heidelberg, Germany, who sent it because he himself a former soldier in the German army, once had been down and out in a hospital.

In Dath's words, "a Red Cross package given me at that time was so very helpful from the point of morale, confirmation of my faith in humanity, and idealism, that I have looked forward to the day when I could return this favor in the same way."

The package was given Cpl. Hasty because doctors feared his low spirits would impede his recovery and they hoped to do something to lift his morale.

It did the trick. The corporal held up the stein and said, "I can use this at lunch today."

Alexander Graham Bell, the inventor of the telephone, was also the inventor of the aileron which replaced wing warping as a method for control of airplane flight.

Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg—Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Beegle and son, John, visited over the week-end with relatives in Bedford, Pa.

A full attendance turned out for rehearsal Tuesday night in preparation for the minstrel show being sponsored and staged by the Chapel choir and Loyalty group of Elias Evangelical Lutheran church. The minstrel, which is being directed by Henry Charlton and Mrs. Robert Dougherty, includes a cast of approximately 50 characters and will run for a full evening and will be presented to the public on two nights, Thursday and Friday, April 26 and 27, for the benefit of the music fund of the church.

Miss Nancy Beegle spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Beegle.

Miss Phyllis M. Bower spent several days this week at home with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. Philip Bower. Miss Bower went with her father to Washington, D. C., today.

From Washington she will go to Durham, N. C., where she is to be employed as a medical laboratory technician at the Duke University hospital.

The Chapel choir of Elias Evangelical Lutheran church, Mrs. Clarence Bartholomew directing, met for rehearsal Tuesday evening with a large attendance. After the rehearsal, a social time was held in the parish hall in honor of Mrs. Bartholomew and as an expression of appreciation to her "for her good work in directing the choir for the last four months." Refreshments were served and Mrs. Bartholomew spoke briefly to the group. It was Mrs. Bartholomew's last rehearsal with the choir. She will direct the choir Sunday, when they will sing the anthem "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." Mrs. Reginald Zepp, who has been on a leave of absence for four months, will return as choir director, Sunday, April 15.

Robert Troxell, West Main street, who has been seriously ill for the past week is reported to be slightly improved.

In 1951 the number of horses on U. S. farms dropped below 5,000,000 for the first time in the history of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.
